Financial Express and InfoComp in 'Best of Breed' Partnership

Financial Express, the UK's leading fund data and analysis provider, and InfoComp, a world leader in wealth management solutions, today announce their 'Best of Breed' partnership for the UK wrap market.

The combination of InfoComp's Composer wrap platform technology and Financial Express fund performance, prices, and factsheets will enable both parties to offer an integrated fund research solution as part of a market leading wrap offering.

InfoComp's 'Composer' software provides a complete wrap solution including the record keeping, dealing and reporting functionality necessary to support the administration of a broad range of financial products, including: pensions, SIPPs, ISAs, PEPs, unit trusts, OEICs, other collectives and equities.

Financial Express will 'seed' the InfoComp proposition with the latest fund prices, fund performance data and fund factsheets similar to solutions provided to the Skandia, Standard Life, AXA and Fidelity FundsNetwork wrap and fund supermarket platforms. Financial Express is the UK's leading collector and distributor of fund information, offering fund analysis products as well as custom solutions which can be integrated with client systems and software packages.

Michael Holland, Financial Express managing director says:

"As the leading provider of fund data to UK fund distribution platforms and software systems, Financial Express is uniquely placed to offer wrap providers and their customers with consistent fund research and analysis across all their business applications. We believe the 'Best of Breed' approach in co-operation with InfoComp offers prospective clients a range of quality components combined with timely delivery."

Bryan Hill, InfoComp UK director says:

"We believe it is important that every client has the flexibility to develop a wrap platform that meets their individual and specific needs and are not constrained by functionality considerations. InfoComp's Composer software has been developed with this flexibility in mind and clients can use the Composer product engines on a standalone basis or combine them with their existing product engines. Strengthening our relationship with Financial Express means our mutual clients, both existing and potential, will be in a position to de-risk their entry to the wrap market and provide a 'best of breed' solution to their customers."
